- c. that all necessary measures shall be taken to prevent, so far as is reasonably practicable, the accumulated waste from contaminating any other substance or article; and
- d. that the waste shall be disposed of as soon as it is practicable to do so.

5. INTERPRETATION

In this Certificate,

“the Act” means the Radioactive Substances Act 1993;

“person” includes a body corporate or unincorporate;

“solid waste”, “liquid waste” and “gaseous waste” include wastes consisting of solid, liquid or gaseous matter respectively with solid, liquid or gaseous matter dispersed therein;

“radioactive waste” and “waste” have the same meaning as in the Act;

“radionuclide” means a species of atom characterised by its mass number.

Any reference to waste of a numbered class is a reference to waste of that class in this Certificate.

Explanatory Notes (not forming part of the Certificate)

The attached Certificate, provided in pursuance of section 16 of the Radioactive Substances Act 1993, contains the material particulars of an authorisation granted under the Act for the accumulation and disposal of radioactive waste of the description specified in the Certificate on or from the premises specified therein.

The authorisation does not authorise the accumulation or disposal of radioactive waste in contravention of any other enactment or any order, regulation or other instrument made, granted or issued under any enactment, or in contravention of any rule of law or in breach of any agreement.

It is a requirement of the Act that a copy of this Certificate shall be kept posted on the premises to which it relates in such a way as to be conveniently read by persons whose duties on the premises may be affected by the requirements of the registration.

The Radioactive Substances Act 1993 consolidates earlier enactments relating to radioactive substances, including the Radioactive Substances Act 1960 (which is now repealed), and makes certain corrections and minor improvements. Any Order or Regulations made, and certificates granted, under the 1960 Act continue in force as if made or granted under the 1993 Act.

The Radioactive Substances Act 1993 has been amended by both the Local Government etc (Scotland) Act 1994 and the Environment Act 1995.
